New Psychoactive Substances. The case of salvia divinorum
Novas Substâncias Psicoativas - O caso da salvia divinorum.

Funding country: Portugal
Project starting year: 2013
Project ending year: 2013

Area(s) of research:
- Prevalence, incidence and patterns of drug use
- Determinants of drug use
- Consequences of drug use
- Mechanism of drug use and effects
- Supply and markets

Objectives: To gather available information on the consumption and sale of salvia divinorum in Portugal.

Scientific discipline(s) involved: Anthropology

Objectives (native): Reunir a informação disponível sobre o consumo e a comercialização de salvia divinorum em Portugal.

Initial identified needs: Improve the knowledge about the New Psychoactive Substances use, an emerging phenomenon in the country

Initial identified needs (native): Conhecer o fenómeno das NSP, fenómeno emergente.

Performed by: SICAD - DEI (General Directorate for Intervention on Addictive Behaviours and Dependencies - Division of statistics and surveys)

Funded by: SICAD

Summary references:

Website:

Published reference(s):

New Psychoactive Substances. The case of salvia divinorum
Novas Substâncias Psicoativas - O caso da salvia divinorum.